In both Irish and Manx popular folklore, Fionn mac Cumhail (known as "Finn McCool" or "Finn MacCooill" respectively) is portrayed as a magical, benevolent giant. The most famous story attached to this version of Fionn tells of how one day, while making a pathway in the sea towards Scotland - The Giant's Causeway - Fionn is told that the giant Benandonner (or, in the Manx version, a buggane) is coming to fight him. Fionn mac Cumhaill - Wikipedia When the Red Giant looked at the giant creature inside the crib, he became very scared. If Finn's baby is this big, Finn himself must be gigantic, the giant thought. The Red Giant began to tremble in fear. He fled from Finn MacCool's house and ran back to Scotland over the causeway. He destroyed much of the causeway on his way back, for he was scared that Finn would try to follow him. Leveled Reading Passage: Finn MacCool and the Giant's ... As the story goes,

Finn MacCool (also referred to as Fionn MacCumhaill) was a giant and soldier who once lived on the North Antrim coast. One morning, Finn was gazing out across the Irish Sea to Staffa, Scotland where his enemy Benandonner resided.
